Claiming that he did not know who he was or where he was from, a man who is believed to be Arthur J. Belanger, 27 years of age, and who served in eight battles in the world war with the Fifth division, appeared at the sheriff's office last night to secure a night's lodging and assistance in establishing his identity.

July 29, 1917, in Company D, Eleventh Infantry, and was a first class private. His record shows he took part in eight battles in the St. Mihiel sector between April 24, 1918 and September 16, 1918, and that he escaped injury and was in good physical condition when discharged from the army at Camp Devens, Mass. July 29, 1919. The discharge paper is signed by Captain H. T. Higgins.

Belanger is a member of the Society of the Fifth division, Veterans of the World War, with residence at New Bedford, Mass.

Commercial Club Billiard Players Pile Up Big Score on Ogdenites

(Special Dispatch)
SALT LAKE, March 11.—Billiard sharks of the Salt Lake Commercial club clinched the inter-city championship matches with the players of the Weber club of Ogden here tonight by capturing the six final events on the card at three cushion billiards winning out with a grand total of 2139 to 1524, a margin of 615 points, or 198 points more than they totaled in the first matches staged at Ogden last week.

By trimming the Ogdenites the Salt Lake players won the second leg on the challenge cup, the Ogdenites being victors in the initial play during the 1921 season.

Despite the big score rolled up by the Salt Lakeers the Ogden players had their rivals to the end and deserve considerable credit for their efforts. Several upsets were recorded during the evening's play. In the three-cushion billiards, Edges of Ogden met defeat at the hands of W. H. Boothe, 25 to 18. In 1921 Edges turned in a 25 to 14 victory over Boothe. Edges holds the state amateur three-cushion title and his defeat at the hands of Boothe came as a big surprise.

The match in the three-cushion class between J. E. Nye of Ogden and F. O. Scudder of Salt Lake was hotly contested from start to finish, the Ogdenite losing 20 to 25.

At the end of the afternoon's play at straight rail the Salt Lakeers forged ahead of the Ogden players with a margin of six points, all of the games being hotly contested.

The feature match in straight rail was played between Al Hestmark of Ogden and Clarence Miller of Salt Lake. Hestmark won by one point, the score being 100 to 99. Lawrence Ridges piled up the largest score in this phase of the entertainment, winning 100 to 56 from A. L. Kipp.

When the evening's matches got under way the Salt Lakeers held a 25-point advantage but their clean sweep in the three-cushion play gave them a tremendous lead which the Ogdenites were unable to overcome. Despite this severe handicap the Ogden players battled until the final point had been tallied, viewed at the direction of the crowd, which was said to be the largest that ever witnessed a tourney of this nature at the Commercial club. Scores of men and women spectators were in attendance.

RESULTS OF MATCHES.

University of Pennsylvania freshmen and varsity runners registered victories in the relay races. Pennsylvania runners took first in the two mile relay in thrilling fashion from Cornell and Dartmouth. Columbia finished a poor fourth. Larry Brown, Pennsylvania's speedy runner, won the race by dashing ahead in a sensational sprint 20 yards from the finish.

EXCITING RELAY RACE

By a whirlwind finish Alfred Leconer of Lafayette, defeated Harold Lever of Pennsylvania in the final of the 70-yard dash. It was one of the upsets of the evening.

The most exciting race of the evening resulted in a dead heat between Princeton and Syracuse in the one mile relay race.

Larry Shields, fleet footed Pennsylvania runner, accounted for the one mile run in spectacular fashion. He carried the field of 30 around the banked track at a merry clip. He was closely followed by Douglas of Yale, Burke of Harvard, and Kirby of Yale. One yard from the tape Shields broke what looked like a dead heat by a final lunge at the tape which won by inches.

Libby won the pole vault and Norman and Robert Brown, of Cornell, came first and second in the two mile run.

The Grenda-McNamara and Broeck-Deruyter combinations obtained a one-lap lead early in the race and retained this advantage until Taylor and Kaiser got away from the field tonight for a complete lap, when the other riders were feeling the effects of the mile sprint in the final hour.

HAVE A CARE, JOHNNY WILSON

Loughran's Reputation Is Spreading Fast After Fighting Eight Round Draw With Bryan Downey of Columbus

Fistic fans want to keep an eye on Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia. Loughran is a middleweight on the way up, and it looks now as if he were headed for Champion Johnny Kilson's scalp.

For two years this Philadelphia boy has been something of a sensation in his own city. Now his reputation is commencing to reach out over the country.

His latest triumph came in his recent bout with Bryan Downey of Columbus. The fight went the limit of eight rounds. The Philadelphia sport writers were unanimous in declaring that Loughran had all the best of it for six of the eight rounds.

Loughran has come through two other tough bouts with flying colors. The first of these was with Jimmy Darcy of California. Although Darcy dropped Loughran for the count of eight in the third round, the Philadelphia boy "came back" strong and, in the words of a noted fistic authority, "fought Darcy off his feet."

Loughran also had all the best of his match with Fay Kaiser who, it will be remembered, after losing the A. E. F. championship to Bob Martin, later scored a referee's decision over Martin in this country.

Tommy Loughran is 33 years old, is fighting now at 165 pounds, and may even beat out Lew Tandler in bringing a boxing championship to Philadelphia.

GOLF SCORES ON THE STAGE

Enters Vaudeville With Very Amusing Act That Goes Big

Golf has gone into vaudeville. Boxing, baseball and football have all done big time.

However, not until recently did golf make its debut in "vodville". A few years ago a golf act in vaudeville would have been ridiculed.

All of which merely shows the hold the game is getting on the American public.

The act is called, "A Lesson in Golf". It is presented by two professional golfers.

While a spectator may not gain any real knowledge as to how to improve his game from the act, it certainly will interest him.

It is done in a humorous as well as serious vein. A number of the stunts draw a big laugh and when the professional misses some of the shots he really intends to make it is the cue for the audience to "raze" him through the medium of the merry "ha ha".

Of course in all vaudeville acts it is most essential to have a whirlwind finish. In the "Lesson in Golf" the professional finished by rapidly driving a number of golf balls while blindfolded to the accompaniment of soft music.

Motion pictures are used to aid the act and materially assist in putting it over. First the real pictures of a player are shown on the screen as he does the various golf stunts. Then the pictures are then slowed up and get many a laugh.

CHAMPION KILBANE WANTS GOOD PURSE

Champion Johnny Kilbane does not intend to give his title away for a mere pittance. This was made plain by the champ himself at a testimonial dinner given in Cleveland recently.

Called upon for a speech, Kilbane declared he was sorry that so many of the fistic critics felt impelled to place him on the grill, but that he merely wanted what was rightfully his. "I will defend my title against any boy who thinks he has a chance to lift it," Kilbane said, "but I demand a reason, able sum for my efforts. In the past fighters have demanded big sums and gotten away with it, but in my case the critics seem to think I should fight for nothing. I want to defend my title in 14 foreign countries before I retire, and this is a feat no other boxer has ever accomplished. I hope to return to America in about one year at which time I will be ready for any lad in the division," said the champion. Kilbane was visibly affected when several at the banquet praised him. He declared after the banquet it was one of the most pleasant recollections he had. Kilbane went onto the hall and shook hands with each of the guests.

MARTIN WILLING TO WAIT FOR DEMPSEY

Bob Martin, the A. E. F. champion, wants to battle Jack Dempsey but he is not going to feel disappointed if the match does not come his way before another year. Martin wants Father time to take a healthy swing at the champ before he tackles him. Through his manager, Jimmy Bronson, Martin says he is now getting ready to open a drive designed to take him to the top in the heavyweight division. He will make a tour of the east and middle west meeting native sons, after which he will go after such celebrities as Bob Roper, Al Weinert, Gene Tunney and Tommy Gibbons. He is especially anxious to mix with Bill Brennan.

Whether You Come to Buy or Merely Look, We Want You to See This Splendid Array

No part of our apparel seems so quite out of season as the hat that we have worn during the winter months. And now that fashion has decreed bright colors for spring, the dull, sombre colors of winter are especially out of tune. Price is the least consideration. For a bright spring hat may be had at most any price. Stocks were never so complete as now. Early selections are always most satisfactory.

SCOUT'S JOB IS HARD TASK

Bob Gilka, veteran baseball star, now scouting with the New York Yankees, is always good for a yarn. Here is his latest:

"I was running the Shreveport club of the Texas League in 1907. We were battling for first place and about August 1, I decided the addition of another pitcher would clinch the pennant for us.

"The club didn't have much money, but we decided to beg or borrow $1200. For that amount, I figured I could purchase a much touted pitcher who I believed would turn the tide in our favor.

"The pitcher I brought was more or less of a 'flicker' and never got out of the minor league ranks. His name means nothing to my story.

"When I purchased this pitcher from a small Texas league team, the manager told me he had a likely outfielder of great promise, who was just the boy for my circuit. He offered me the pitcher for $300. The pitcher said he could die up another $300. I did this after I had watched the kid for a couple of days and liked his actions.

"The town had been milked dry and I came home with the pitcher, but not the much touted outfielder.

"I won the pennant that year and also some glory. However, had I grabbed the outfielder, who was offered for $300 we would have made a lot of money.

"I'd give you one guess. Well, it was Tris Speaker.

"All of which merely proves that scouting is a tough job. You often pick the 'flickers' and pass up the peaches."

THINKS T. GIBBONS WILL WHIP DEMPSEY

Willie Meehan is one battler whose sheekles will be down on Tommy Gibbons when the St. Paul boy meets Jack Dempsey. Meehan has fought both Dempsey and Gibbons and he says Gibbons is by far the best man in the two. Meehan twice beat Jack Dempsey, of course, this was before Jack captured the title. Meehan was an easy mark for Gibbons, but in the fight, "the fat boy" was not in the best shape for a battle. "When Gibbons meets Dempsey you will see a real battle but all my change goes on Gibbons who I think will make Dempsey look like a sucker," said Meehan.

HORSE RACES STOP IN LENTEN SEASON

There will be no racing in New Orleans during Lent this year or in any years to follow, according to the promoters. Last year Governor Parker issued an order against racing during the Lenten season, the order to become effective this year. The racing promoters decided after a conference that it would be useless to antagonize the chief executive. Attendance at the New Orleans races this winter has broken all previous records, but the betting was the lightest in years.
